

WILLIMANTIC

Norwich Bulletin, Willimantic Office
23 Church St., Telephone 105.

Willimantic labor troubles remain unchanged, the men out from the Quindick-Windham company not having returned and the company still remaining out. There has been no demonstration but both sides have remained firm, the men holding out for their original demands and the employers standing firm by their first refusal of these demands.

There appears to be a new aspect to the Quindick-Windham strike as some of the non-union employees of the company state that they were told if the men returned to work all employees must belong to the union. Agent Knight was informed of this story and gave the men to understand that the company would operate only on the open shop basis and no employee would be compelled to join a union unless he desired. Several of the operatives of the company who have not yet joined the newly organized textile workers' local are anxious to return to work but Agent Knight could not state when the plant would resume operations.

At the American Thread company, the ten non-union carders returned to work Tuesday and it is said that some of the union carders also started to work. In the afternoon there were thirty carders at work at the plant.

The Willimantic Textile Council at a meeting held Tuesday afternoon unanimously supported the action of the Carders Union. A meeting is to be held this (Wednesday) afternoon at which a Polish organizer and an American organizer will speak. Nothing could be learned as to what action might result from this meeting.

The May term of the Windham county superior court opened Tuesday morning in this city. Judge John E. Keeler of Stamford presiding. The session was opened with prayer offered by Rev. Harry S. McCready, pastor of the First Congregational church.

Three prisoners were put to plea, two entering pleas of guilty. There were Silas Elmas of Killingly charged with assault with intent to kill, and Edward Lamoureux, of Thompson, charged with theft.

Elmas, 22, was charged with having struck a fellow employee on March 10th last. Elmas was struck in the face by Littlefair and he seized a piece of iron pipe and knocked Littlefair unconscious. He had been bound over from the lower court on bonds of $500, Littlefair being unable to appear against him on the following morning Elmas had a good record previous to this time and State's Attorney Charles E. Searis recommended a fine of $125 and costs which was accepted by the court. Fine and costs totaled $149.05.

Lamoureux admitted having stolen a suit of clothes, valued at $40, and a watch valued at $10, April 20, 1919 from John H. Trainor of Thompson. He claimed to have been under the influence of liquor at the time. It was stated that Lamoureux had been in trouble before and liquor had caused the trouble. He is an ex-serviceman and prior to his arrest was employed as a riveter at a mechanical mill. He was sentenced to six months in jail and placed on probation for a similar term under the care of Frederick W. Seward, of Putnam.

Ira Fowler, charged with incest, pleaded not guilty. He was arrested October 17, 1919, following charges made by his niece, Edith Harris that he had abused her. Fowler is an elderly man. The case will be tried today (Monday) and a jury will be summoned. Adjournment was taken at 11:20 until today at 10:30.

Briefs are to be filed in the case of the First Spiritualist church of Willimantic, vs Salvatore Foti. The case came up for the fifth time Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. Judge Frank H. Pons occupying the bench. An attempt to reach a settlement proved futile and it became a question as to whether the entire case must be gone over once more before a jury. Attorney D'Esopo for the defendant asked that he be allowed to ask one or two questions to bring out a vital point in the case, but Attorney T. J. Kelley for the plaintiff refused Attorney D'Esopo then asked for the privilege of one question and as this was granted by Attorney Kelley, John Adams, one of the society members of the board of trustees was called to the stand and asked this question, "Who authorized the bringing of the summary process against the defendant, Salvatore Foti, and when?" The answer was, "We, the trustees of the Spiritualist society are intrusted with the business of the society and do so without the consent of the society." The attorneys then talked the matter over and to bring matters to a head it was agreed that each side would brief the case today (Wednesday). Judge Pons was asked to render his decision as soon as possible.

Dennis Haggerty, substitute letter carrier will begin his duties as a regular carrier Monday, taking the place left vacant by the resignation of Edward P. Lyman. Three substitute carriers are now lacking at the local postoffice, a thing almost unknown in postal offices in this vicinity until the reign of Postmaster Burleson.

Albert Girouard of 603 Main street appeared at the police court Tuesday morning to answer a charge of having violated a city ordinance by leaving his automobile parked within the fire zone for a period of over two hours. Mr. Girouard, it is claimed, had left the car there over six hours. Officer Bonbrun who made the arrest testified that Girouard's automobile had been standing in front of a Main street store from the time he was off duty in the morning until 2 o'clock that afternoon. Girouard, he claimed, had admitted his car had been standing there all morning. Mr. Girouard entered a plea of not guilty and the case was continued to Saturday. This ordinance has been in force for about six years, but Mr. Girouard claimed to have no knowledge of any such law although he had driven a car for about five years.

A bogus check game has been worked on some of the residents of this city by two persons, a man and a woman, who purchase merchandise and pay for it by check. Aggregate losses might reach $1000 if this city. The checks were drawn on a Simsbury bank.

Daniel Leary, 65, died Monday at his home in Ellington town of Pompey, following a long illness. Mr. Leary was employed as foreman of the Ellington section of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. He is survived by his wife, Mary Leary, two daughters, Mrs. John Tobin of Burlington, Vt., and Miss Nora Leary of Putnam; a sister, Mrs. John Sullivan of Norwich and two brothers Michael of New Haven and John Leary of Willimantic.

The May meeting of the chamber of commerce was held Tuesday night at the chamber rooms, about 200 being present. Supper was served at 6:30 o'clock by the ladies of the Swedish Lutheran church, the following menu pleasing all: Beef tea, cold ham, mashed potatoes, green peas, rolls, coffee cake and cigars.

Following the supper the business meeting was opened by President J. B. Fullerton and Secretary M. E. Sullivan read the report of the last meeting which was accepted as read. Two new members were voted into the chamber. A letter was read from Samuel Anderson, superintendent of the Connecticut company, stating that thus far he had been unable to come to this city but would come as soon as possible. Mr. Anderson is to come here to hear the plans of the chamber relative to having a better service on the South Country trolley line. The plan of having a trolley waiting station near the end of the line will also be taken up. Mr. Fullerton asked if 100 men would attend another supper if it was as good as the one served Tuesday evening. The men volunteered and the supper will be served at the next regular meeting. President Fullerton also announced that word had been received that beginning Monday, May 10th, the morning train arriving in this city at 5:10 a. m. would be put on again and local merchants could receive their morning mail as formerly. This announcement brought forth great applause from all present. At this time Mr. Fullerton ordered all doors locked and then he announced that a mortgage of $3,000 held on the chamber of commerce building by five local men was to be taken over by the realty association and each member of the chamber would be asked to buy one or more shares with an interest rate at 5 per cent. Pledges for these bonds valued at $25 each resulted in the selling of most of the shares. Orin E. Robinson has been appointed as chairman of the bond committee and all members are to be asked to purchase one or more bonds. At this time Henry T. Burr, formerly principal of the Willimantic Normal school was introduced as the speaker of the evening. At the conclusion of his remarks he was heartily applauded. The last meeting of the year with a supper and a speaker is to be held in two weeks.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Davis Theatre Today.
Packed houses both Monday and Tuesday were more than pleased with the show and it is as good as any bill presented this season. All the new acts are big timers and are regular standard attractions in the big cities. Heading the bill today are the five Musical Chappels who present a musical offering that is sure to be a big hit here and one that all lovers of good music will come to hear. They carry a magnificent stage setting which makes the act more attractive. The second act is Ecker and Moore, a fifty singing and talking oddity entitled "Oh! Captain." This act also has its own scenery and special electrical effects. The third act is Helen Vincent, a magnetic comedienne who tells stories, sings songs and wears pretty "evening" the fourth act is a Sweeney and Rooney, two light stepping boys in a musical dancing offering. The fifth and last act is Roodie and Frances, who present one of the most interesting of the many successful acts in which she has been seen. A strong cast of photography favorites for support. The feature picture is Lure of Ambition, a 2 part super-production in which William Fox presents Theda Bara. This is not only Miss Bara's last picture, but it is said to be one of the most intensely interesting of the many successful acts in which she has been seen.
